SIMBACHAWENE VISITS LAW SCHOOL OF TANZANIA

The Minister of Constitutional and Legal Affairs Hon. George Simbachawene (MB) visited the Law School of Tanzania on 10th March, 2022. This was his first visit to the school since he was appointed the Minister. His visit aimed at learning a number of things but specifically how the institution offers its practical legal training programmes to its students.

During his one day well spent visit, he managed to attend some of the Moot court classes of the 34th Cohort students and learnt, that Practical Legal Training is based on Learning by doing (LBD) mode, which instill learners with practical skills and knowledge.

He also had a chance to talk to trainers in different classes on different issues and where had a time to asked questions on the training matters. He was also able to meet all staff and had a conversation on different matters of the school where he said, he is satisfied with the training speed offered to the students and all other support services while making clear that the government will continue to support and build financial capacity for the institution so as to increase its efficiency.

During his visits, Hon Simbachawene was also accompanied with other officials from the Ministry including the Deputy Minister Honorable Pinda, Deputy Secretary General Dr. Kazungu and their personal secretaries. They learned many things from the School, like the teaching mode, distribution of the courses taught and how the practical skills are taught like the way Moot Courts are conducted, use of experienced part time practitioners during seminars and lecturers by senior judges and magistrates. He acknowledge the work and contribution of the school in support the government in training and producing competent advocates who can venture the legal practice of the region and the global. He promised to be among the ambassadors of the School to not only the parliament but also to all citizens.

Students' Union Election Results

The Student's Union Elections are one of our most vibrant and exciting times at The Law School of Tanzania, This is when students are invited to put themselves forward for one of the leadership positions and vote for the students they want to present to them. The elections usually take place soon after the registrations of the new cohort. We would like to extend a huge thank you to the candidates who run; you had a brilliant job and made it a competitive situation. Another thank you goes out to voters, candidates, and everyone that took part. The elected students are as follows;
